May it not reasonably be supposed, that if we lessen the rarefication of the atmosphere in the lower valley and on the plain, by cooling it down through the presence of trees, we can succeed in giving to the ordinary trades a less tions to devote to a vigorous prosecution of the objects of the downward inclination, to raise it, if not eight hundred feet, at Society. They have done what they could, and will be but too least some fifty or sixty feet over our heads? We should still happy to yield the control to other hands. Let "Hoc" then have breeze enough, to make us feel comfortably, but our trees would not shed their fruit, and there would be a great deal less of rheumatism in our village. Many other parts of the lee-side of our islands are similarly situated to Honolulu.

It remains for me only to make a few remarks on the practidoubtedly is. Of course, it cannot be accomplished in one year or a couple of years. In northern latitudes the raising of a new forest, even of fast growing trees, will take from fifteen to thirty years. Here our patience will not have to be put to such a stretch. Where, as I had occasion to observe in my garden, some species of Acacia will grow in little more than one year to to the height of twenty-four feet, from the seed. Melias sixteen feet and Casuarinas ten feet, there it may be admissible to feel somewhat sanguine on the subject. It is my opinion, that on the banks of rivers and in low wet places our end may be attained in less than four years. In dry, unsheltered plains, bare hills or elevated districts, it may take longer time. Nowhere, I imagine, we shall have to wait more than six or eight years, be-fore some results are obtained. The work can not be done by a few individuals; the whole nation must lay hand on this great national work. And if it were for no other reason than this, I hail with joy this festival occasion which for the first time has assembled bur native friends of the National Hawaiian Agricultural Society with us. The same idea has called their society embellish and enrich the fair land of their inheritance. Let the most able writer upon North American ornitholinto life, as ours ; the same zeal animates them to realize it, to every member of our societies enter an engagement, to plant ogy, in his native place of Paisley, Scotland, during yearly a certain number of trees; let our society import seeds | the present summer. from abroad in quantities for distribution, particularly of such trees as are of some economical use; but let us make an immediate beginning with the vegetable treasures, native or domiciliated on our soil. To prevent failures from error in judgment. Government may designate competent persons, whose duty it shall be to select and assign places where a beginning may be to live in. made with best advantage, and appoint wardens for the protection of the young plantations. Indeed, amongst all the monuments a wise and great ruler may erect himself for posterity, of the Texas bonds soon to be paid, which he bought which are more beautiful and durable than those that will shed blessing and happiness on his nations children and grandchildren? which are greater, than those which comprise at once dollar. every one of his subjects and every squarefoot of his kingdom which more admirable, than such as founded by an enlightened sagacity, penetrating the hidden future, tend at once to avert unseen calamities and secure unhoped for happiness? Thus amongst the claims on posterity's gratitude, the great Akbar founded himself in India, one, not the smallest, consists in his directing "to plant trees allowed to allude to the fact. of every description on both sides of the canal down to Hissar, both for shade and blossom, so as to make it like the canal un fruits may reach the mouth of every one, and that from those the fern known throughout the Highlands generally luxuries a voice might go forth to travellers, calling them to rest as the brekan. in the cities, where their every want will be supplied."

sparkling "Hoc" from some one who has been kind enough to point to them and to the public, how shamefully they have neglected their duties and how particularly shameful it was in me to attempt to Newspaper. "galvanise" the Society into a little life on the occasion of the coming Annual Meeting and Exhibition. Now it is certainly very good of "Hoe" and very benevolent and public-spirited of "Hoc" to show what being twelve libel suits just coming on in Court asses the Managers have made of themselves-and in gratitude therefor, I feel bound to show how valuathis "practical agriculturist" flings at them with opportunity for a little reflection in the stone jug. such a hearty good will, and how well-deserved are his censures, and truthful his assertions in regard to what has, and what has not, been accomplished by the Society.

In the first place, if "Hoe" has attempted to inform himself city. of the history of the society, (and if he has not, he deserves a first class premium for his modesty) he must be aware that it was established at a time when California seem to offer a large and sure market for our productions, and with more direct reference to the advancement of agriculture among foreigners at the Islands. The native agriculturists, it was supp sed, would be influenced more by example than precept, and would indirectly be benefited by the impetus given to agricultural enterprise. | the seal of the Ottoman Empire in wax, bearing the That these bright prospects have not been realized is not the fault of the Agricultural Society, but is owing to causes which the wisest men here have not been able to avert.

"Hoe" however thinks he could have overcome these obstacles. Let us look at his remedies. First, He would purchase Lee & Marshall's Circus-place it on the plains with its streamwhole fund of the Society, and then, this "practical agriculturist" would give a grand impetus to the "agricultural interests" of the Islands that should cover them with prosperity; how? Why institutions in France, with a view to a reform of the to be paid by the Society!! Now is nt it strange that the noo-dles who compose the Board of Managers never thought of that brilliant method of propelling agriculture. No wonder the cause languishes, when means so obvious are neglected! What a pity the native women can't vote. If they had that privilege, what a equestrians. "Hee" would be chosen President by immense $4,000,000, majorities—without any "ballot-box stuffing" either—and how the women would race, and how agriculture would flourish, with this "practical agriculturist" at the helm.

and give premiums to the best plough-men and plough-horses. Now this looks like a practical suggestion—an agricultural suggestion. "Hoe" has read that they do this in other societies, his final leave of public life. and he thinks he is safe in blowing us all sky-high for not having thought of it here, (as if we had nt.) His first saggestion I give him credit for as original. But this I think he found in a book. Now Mr. "Hoc," we would be very glad to have plowing-matches, and this is the reason why we can't have them. In the first place, our Exhibitions, for obvious reasons, must be held at Honolulu, or at any rate on Oahu. Oahu is not | ing his face down to the earth. On further search, an agricultural island. There is not a plantation, and hardly a they found an immense cavern. farm on this island. The farmers and planters live on the other islands: there are the plowmen. Now, a plowman contending for a prize must, of course, have his own teams that he knows and can control. To get up a plowing-match, then here, the plowman must take his most valuable cattle, &c., to the nearest of original portraits, to consist, as far as possible, of tive schooner at the risk of maining them for life-and lucky if he is not becalmed a week on the passage-the sea-sick plowman lands at Honolulu, and enters the lists with his sea-sick steers to arts, in literature and in science. compete for a prize valued, say even at $100, (four time the value of our highest premiums,) the little trip costing him from "practical agriculturist" think such an expedition advisable? vested funds of the Society, amounting to $820, not being in an longer, had not peace been declared. fron safe, were stolen from the Treasurer a few weeks since—and that no clew to the robbery has been found—so that "Hoe" may make himself easy on that score, and also comfort himself some degree in spite of the Society.

the meetings of the Society to have his views presented and acted pard is about twenty-five years old, and very pretty. upon. It is the easiest thing in the world to find fault and point out errors. "Hoe" asks why we have not done this or that. Let me ask of him, why does he sit on the fence with his hands, in his pockets, or only taking them out while he throws stones this: "practical agriculturists" are just the persons we want to aid and sustain the Society. Does he do right to stand off and rail at us, without having first tried to help us by having his views acted upon. Why did he not come in and point out what is desirable, and endeavor to have efficient officers elected who would carry out his views, instead of electing against his earnest and repeated wishes a President who is not a practical agriculturist, and who, with the Managers, entered most unwillingly upon duties which they were well aware they had neither the time nor abilities, properly to perform? If " Hoc" is not a resident, it would be more becoming in him to ascertain first, from the proper sources what the Society has done-what they have attempted-and why they have not been able to do more. I have no time now to detail these reasons, nor is it necessary. The Society has done something in the way of importing stock, plants, trees, seeds, and insectivorous birds-and it has sent money away for these purposes, though its efforts have not been attended with all the success that was desirable. As for the Reports that "Hoc" considers so useless, perhaps he is right. Yet the Society has received high compliments from distinguished officers of long established Societies abroad for these very Reports and Transactions. And I have heard members say at the meetings that they have received much practical benefit from some of the Reports. One stated that one item which he learned from one of the Reports was worth the price to him of a life-membership. "Why don't we get larger rooms?" Because we always schooner Eudora Imogene, and a coroner's jury get the largest we can, and all the little fund accumulated by brought in a verdiet of murder againt the negro the Society, about which "Hoc" is so much disturbed, would cook, Geo. Wilson. not half pay for a suitable building for the Exhibition.

As one of the Board of Managers, I would say that the officers very reluctantly accepted the duties thrust upon them, knowing advocates all the Mormon that they would have but little leisure from their daily avoca- of wives among the reast. come forward, elect his ticket and reform the abuses; and I will pledge him the cordial support of every member of the present Board. And I should be highly gratified to see the objects of the Society prosecuted so vigorously, that it would never again be necessary for any one to draw down on his head such a cability of a plan of such extent, as the one propounded un- shower of reproaches as have greeted my hapless attempts at " galvanising."
